ANYTHING ELSE?

In late October, we will graduate to Essential Elements book 2. I will send a note home to let parents know when this is happening. The book will cost $10.

If you need new reeds or any other supplies for your instrument call B and J music at 2174431050 by Wednesday of that week. George, our B and J music representative, travels to the school every Friday for repairs and to deliver supplies. Calling the store directly works much better than students telling me and having me relay the information.

Any questions I did not answer- please email me cgore@arcolaschools.com or call me 2172684962

If you sign up for text alerts I will send out reminders about performances, homework, and other general information. The number is set up through the remind101 application. I will not have your phone number and you will not have mine. I cannot respond to any messages you send to that number.
